ABOUT CSCT

CSCT has a proven track record of creating, administering and supporting counselling and interpersonal skills training courses. Our highly experienced team of academic experts produce fully comprehensive materials, and we are committed to providing high quality training programmes that reflect current thinking and research in the field and meet the changing needs of our clients. Our materials give both tutors and participants confidence and peace of mind through timed sessions, individual and group exercises, topics for further discussion, points for reflection and discussion, etc.

With more than two decades working with the education, public and private sectors in the UK and Europe – and having trained over 50,000 participants in that time – we understand fully the demands and needs of counselling training.
